

SON EXPECTED TO TRAP DAUGHERTY

'Railroaded' to Asylum Because He Loved Actress

The trap-door in the prosecution's structure of evidence against Harry M. Daugherty, ex-Cabinet member under indictment in the alleged alien property fraud, will be sprung, it is expected, when Draper M. Daugherty, son of the accused man, will testify.

The prosecution is anxious to get the younger Daugherty on the stand. Before any antipathy existed between father and son they were very close, it is said.

Personal and political secrets of the indicted man—the poignant features of the case—which were vested in the son will be revealed when he takes the stand, the prosecution says.

It is claimed that Draper alone knows the most salient facts in the life and career of his father, who is charged with one of the greatest frauds in the history of politics.

The testimony of the son will be a powerful searchlight on the hidden story of the death of Jesse W. Smith, intimate friend of the former attorney general, the prosecution says.

The inside story revealing facts that only young Daugherty could know will be told the court, it is said, when he takes the stand against his father, who, he charges, "railroaded" him to an Ohio insane asylum because of his infatuation for Pearl Baremore.

That young Daugherty would go on the stand as a star witness for the prosecution was predicted months ago, when in an executive series in The GRAPHIC, Miss

Draper Told Pearl He'd Testify

PEARL BAREMORE (left) was told by her sweetheart, Draper Daugherty, he would testify against his father, Harry M. Daugherty, when Draper was released from an insane asylum. In a series of articles written exclusively for The GRAPHIC, Miss Baremore alleged her lover was wrongfully committed.

Big Police Dog Bites Cop After He Subdued Rioters

Patrolman John I. Meehan, of the West 30th Street station, quelled a small riot among fifteen men in a restaurant at 230 West 40th St. last night but met his match in a police dog, which bit him in the right leg so badly that he had to be sent to his home at 9117 35th Ave., Jackson Heights, Queens.

Meehan heard the revelers fighting in the restaurant owned by Mahun Allieaki. After a struggle he lined them against the wall. When most of them had been subdued he found John Morgan, 26 years old, of 529 West 49th St., lying on the floor with two stab wounds in his chest and another in his head.

An ambulance from Bellevue Hospital was called for Morgan and the policeman began questioning the other men to learn who had stabbed him. He had hardly begun when a police dog of more than usual size rushed at him from the back of the restaurant and sank its teeth in his leg. Meehan yelled and Patrolman Gidding, on an adjoining post, ran in.

Giddings took a hasty glance and summoned the reserves. Fourteen men of the police emergency squad and the West Thirtieth Street reserves hurried to the spot. When they arrived there was nothing for them to do. Morgan, whose condition is critical, has a police record, according to detectives of the West Thirtieth Street Station.

Allieaki and Charles Grotto of 230 West 40th Street, were arrested and charged with assault. They are the alleged owners of the dog.

Pangalos Troops Defy Government, Fight in Athens

LONDON, Sept. 10.—An Athens report says a state of practical anarchy exists. A mob attacked the Central Telegraph offices, a guard was wounded, and there were many street casualties.

The trouble is with the troops supporting Gen. Pangalos, the ousted dictator, who have refused to disband.

Government airplanes joined in bombing the mutineers. A Chalkis regiment reinforced the loyalist troops, and the mutineers, realizing the failure of their attempt, raised the white flag.

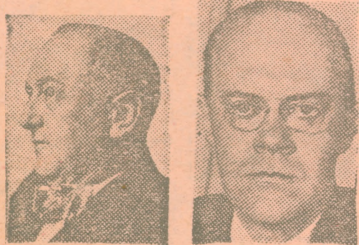

Gen. Pangalos is now imprisoned on the Island of Crete.

PLAINFIELD GIRL WEDS

PLAINFIELD, N. J., Sept. 10.—Miss Eleanor Mary McNally, daughter of Mrs. Mary McNally of 668 Essex St., Plainfield, became the bride of Leo W. Nevins.

MISS NOYES ENGAGED

Mr. and Mrs. Winchester Noyes of Huntington, L. I., have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Mary Paul Noyes, to Selig Chapin.

H. M. Daugherty T. W. Miller

Baremore, an actress, told of a wire she had received from Draper, simultaneous with his release from the insane hospital, effected by Miss Baremore's expose, in which he stated he expected to come to New York immediately to be available for the prosecution at his father's trial.

Richard Merton, star witness for United States Attorney Buckner, will go on the stand again today. He had just started to tell the court of his meeting at the Hotel McAlpin with Col. Thomas W. Miller, John T. King and Jesse Smith—the three men whom the government charges conspired with Daugherty in the fraudulent return of $7,000,000 worth of alien property.

The drama of the trial will be furnished today, it is expected, when Merton, a German, will tell of the champagne party at the McAlpin. It was at this function that Col. Miller is alleged to have drawn a United States Treasury check from his wallet for $6,453,979.97 and turned it over to Merton.

United States Attorney Buckner yesterday said that in all about seventy-five witnesses would be asked to take the stand. He denied the report that Roxie Stinson, who gave sensational testimony at the Washington investigation of the Department of Justice, would take the stand. He also said it was unlikely that Senator Goff of West Virginia, Daugherty's assistant, would testify.

There will be none of the strained courteousness of opposing attorneys that has characterized the trial thus far, today, it is believed. When the details of Merton's story begin the objections will fly thick and fast.

Mystery Shrouds Suicide Of Brooklyn Man and Wife

Special Dispatch to The GRAPHIC

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 10.—Mystery hangs over the double suicide of Frederic Halsey Doyle and his wife who were found dead in a room at the New Willard, yesterday morning. They registered from Brooklyn, N. Y., and had a small amount of hand baggage, but left nothing to identify them further than the names on the hotel register.

An autopsy revealed that the couple died from the effects of cyanide of potassium. Apparently they had eaten candy after having taken the poison, as two pieces of candy, partially eaten, had been removed from a box.

In a note they apologized to the hotel management for the trouble their suicide would cause and left $14 to pay the bill. Another note, addressed to the "Superintendent of Police," contained $100, and requested that their bodies be cremated.

"There is no one to notify," the note stated, "and the reason for our act is that we are without means to go on."

Despite this effort to conceal their identity, it is evident they had notified several persons of their intention to end their lives, as their bodies were found by police following a telephone message from Frederic Halsey of Brooklyn, who urged a search for them.

About the same time another telephone message was received from Judge Malcolm D. Champlain of Providence, R. I., former justice of the East Providence District Court, a distant relative of Mr. Doyle. Judge Champlain said he had received a letter yesterday morning informing him that the Doyles were discouraged and planned to commit suicide. He gave the police the Doyles' latest address in Brooklyn.

Through the Providence police Judge Champlain communicated with the Washington authorities and urged them to find Doyle and his wife at once. The message was received too late—Doyle and his wife had ended their lives. The bodies will be sent to Providence.

Attempts to find the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Doyle in New York city failed last night. At the address given in Providence dispatches—226 West 47th St.—it was said that an F. H. Doyle held an office there about a year ago, but left the place early last fall. It was the impression of attendants in the building that Mr. Doyle was engaged in the lumber business, and that he retired from this line when he gave up his office.

The Doyles could not be traced in Brooklyn. A Frederick Halsey of 1077 Flatbush Ave., Brooklyn, proved not to be the person who called the Washington police in the case.

British Forces Plan Reprisal Against Chinese

LONDON, Sept. 10.—Reports from Shanghai indicate that the British naval officials there plan a strong expedition to Wansien for the purpose of releasing the British steamship seized by Gen. Yangsen.

The cruiser Hawkins, the flagship of Vice-Admiral Sir E. Alexander-Sinclair, commanding the British naval forces at the China station, is on the way to the scene of the recent gunboat fighting near Hankow, which resulted in the death of several British officers and seamen and the wounding of others by Wu Pgi-fu's troops.

Prince George, youngest son of King George, is one of the officers of the Hawkins. He has been serving on that ship since last spring and in that time has won promotion to his present rank, that of lieutenant.

40 Drowned When German Steamer Sinks at Riga

BERLIN, Sept. 10 (By U. P.).—Forty persons are believed to have been drowned when the coastal steamer Neubas sank in the Gulf of Riga yesterday, according to reports from Riga. The ship is thought to have struck a drifting German mine when within sight of the land.

Thirty of those believed to be lost were passengers.

The Neubas is not listed in Lloyd's shipping register.

DEATH OF PROFESSOR

BOSTON, Sept. 10.—Prof. Francis Ward Chandler, former head of the Department of Architecture, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, is dead today.

Olvany Not Convinced Smith Will Run Again

George W. Olvany, chief of Tammany, after a conference at Albany with Gov. Smith, says he is not so sure that "Al" will make the run again. He asserts the state's chief executive is sick, and tired of the job.

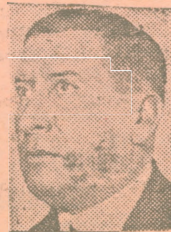

Nevertheless, it is understood that the Democrats are going ahead and making all their campaign plans on the assumption that Smith will head their ticket as candidate for a fourth term.

It is said that should the unexpected happen, Justice Robert F. Wagner would be drafted by the convention as a substitute candidate for governor.

There will be a meeting of the Tammany executive committee Monday afternoon.
